"THE PLAN TO DESTROY AMERICA"

"In 2003, a warning rang out — one that sounds almost prophetic today. It didn't come from a conservative firebrand or a political outsider. It came from a *Democrat".

The above was the byline from the Editor's Desk of an Oklahoma publication called The Henryettan on October 25, 2025.

Although it is jarring to think that anyone, let alone a Democrat, would announce such a plan, once you read the actual speech you understand that it was a warning to America that it is headed down a path to it's own destruction.

Richard D. Lamm (D) was the former Governor of Colorado from 1975 to 1987. He gave the speech in Washington D.C. in October 2003 while introducing our own Victor Davis Hanson, "whose book Mexifornia dissected the social and political consequences of unchecked immigration and cultural fragmentation". As we examine the speech, we realize that 20 years later, Victor's book, and Lamm's speech, were prophetic.

Lamm listed eight steps on "how a nation could be undone from within". The following are excerpts from his speech:

> 1) We must first make America a bilingual-bicultural country. History shows, in my opinion, that no nation can survive the tension, conflict and antagonism of two competing languages and cultures. It is a blessing for an individual to be bilingual; it is a curse for a society to be bilingual.
>
> 2) I would then invent "multiculturalism" and encourage immigrants to maintain their own culture. I would make it an article of belief that all cultures are equal: that there are no cultural differences that are important.
> 3) I would replace the melting pot metaphor with a salad bowl metaphor. It is important to ensure that we have various cultural sub-groups living in America reinforcing their differences, rather than Americans emphasizing their similarities.

4) Having done all this, I would make our fastest-growing demographic group the least educated. I would add a second underclass, unassimilated, undereducated and antagonistic to our population. I would have this second underclass have a 50 percent dropout rate from school.

5) I would then get the big foundations and big business to give these efforts lots of money. I would invest in ethnic identity, and I would establish the cult of victimology [emphasis added]. I would get all minorities to think their lack of success was all the fault of the majority. I would start a grievance industry blaming all minority failure on the majority population.

6) I would establish dual citizenship and promote divided loyalties. I would "celebrate diversity." "Diversity" is a wonderfully seductive word. It stresses differences rather than commonalities. Diverse people worldwide are mostly engaged in hating each other–that is, when they are not killing each other. A "diverse," peaceful or stable society is against most historical precedent. People undervalue the unity it takes to keep a nation together, and we can take advantage of this myopia.

7) Then I would place all these subjects off-limits –- make them taboo to talk about. I would find a word similar to "heretic" in the 16th century that stopped discussion and paralyzed thinking. Words like "racist", "xenophobe" halt argument and conversation. [emphasis added] Having made America a bilingual/bicultural country, having established multiculturalism, having the large foundations fund the doctrine of "victimology," I would next make it impossible to enforce our immigration laws. I would develop a mantra –"because immigration has been good for America, it must always be good." I would make every individual immigrant sympatric and ignore the cumulative impact.

8) Lastly, I would censor Victor Davis Hanson's book "Mexifornia" – this book is dangerous; it exposes my plan to destroy America. So please, please–if you feel that America deserves to be destroyed–please, please–don't buy this book! This guy is on to my plan.

Does the above sound familiar? It should. Each and every step of the speech "reads more like a roadmap that has been followed faithfully".

Although the speech was made more than 20 years ago, we were first introduced to it by Mark Levin on his weekend FOX News show this last weekend. We believed it was so prophetic, so important, that we had to share it with our membership.

For generations, since its founding, immigrants to the United States have assimilated into this country. We were united as one. Now, with the Democrats unfettered open border immigration policies, their emphasis on "diversity", and their persistent attempts to divide us both culturally and politically, we have found ourselves living increasingly in chaos, division, violence and hate. As warned by both the Hon. Richard D. Lamm and Victor Davis Hanson, unless a correction is made, we are on the road to our eventual destruction as the "United States" of America. Of course, for Democrats that is "the plan".

Can You Believe It?? YES!!!

Wake Up America!!
